hi.. im newbie using phpcollab and i installed today the version 2.4 that a friend gave me..

it says it have been is ntalled succesfully, te table and settings have been created succesfuly but when i try to log in with my admin user it just redirects to the same login page and go nothing... ijust see that redirect to somthing like this login.php&auth=test and is always the same, it dont do anything, nor error, no nothing, just the same login page..
so what can i do?.. i leave the installation options by default, except that i put plain in the way of storing passwords, because crypt doesnt work in wondows xp..

btw.. i run phpcollab under phptriad, i tried under phpdev too but is the same helpp!!

vampira,

Do you have a 2nd account that you could log in with? If so, log in and look at the bottom of the page, after logging in, and see how many users it shows logged in. If it shows 2 then you have a stuck session.

To correct the problem I did the following work around:
in: /includes/library.php

comment lines (224/225)
//connectSql("$tmpquery");

and empty records in database
UPDATE members SET last_page = '';

Then I went into the DB and deleted the entry in the 'logs' table for the userid I was trying to log in with.

After doing the above steps I was able to log in without any problems.

Let us know how it goes..

Jeff

I tried this and am having the same problem. I'm getting a session error. I have tried using clear text problems and nothing seems to work. I'm wondering if the ^M s in the conf files could be messing it up. I will try to remove them. Odd problem.
